HANGING PRICING UNITS

Pricing units are essential but why stick with old clip in individual numbers? They invariably get lost or damaged and take a while to change the prices over, they also offer little in the way of additional information about the car.

We offer a range of modern, stylish acrylic pricing units with different hang options that are completely customisable to suit your brand. We can cut custom shapes and can create you a bespoke layout so you can tailor the units to any branding requirements you might have.

Our standard units have either one or two windows and take standard A4 sheets of paper so that you can print your car details and prices in house on your standard office printers to save on costs and offer a much better flexibility of displayable information with changing it taking just seconds.
